

TO SEE/BE SEEN

Visualizing the Need for Multiracial Representation in American Media & Its Impact on Self-Identity

Seeing yourself in the media you consume is important to identity formation

Racially mixed people are the largest growing demographic in America

Mixed experiences often go unseen or misunderstood in media depictions

“...to be part of the whole but outside the main body”

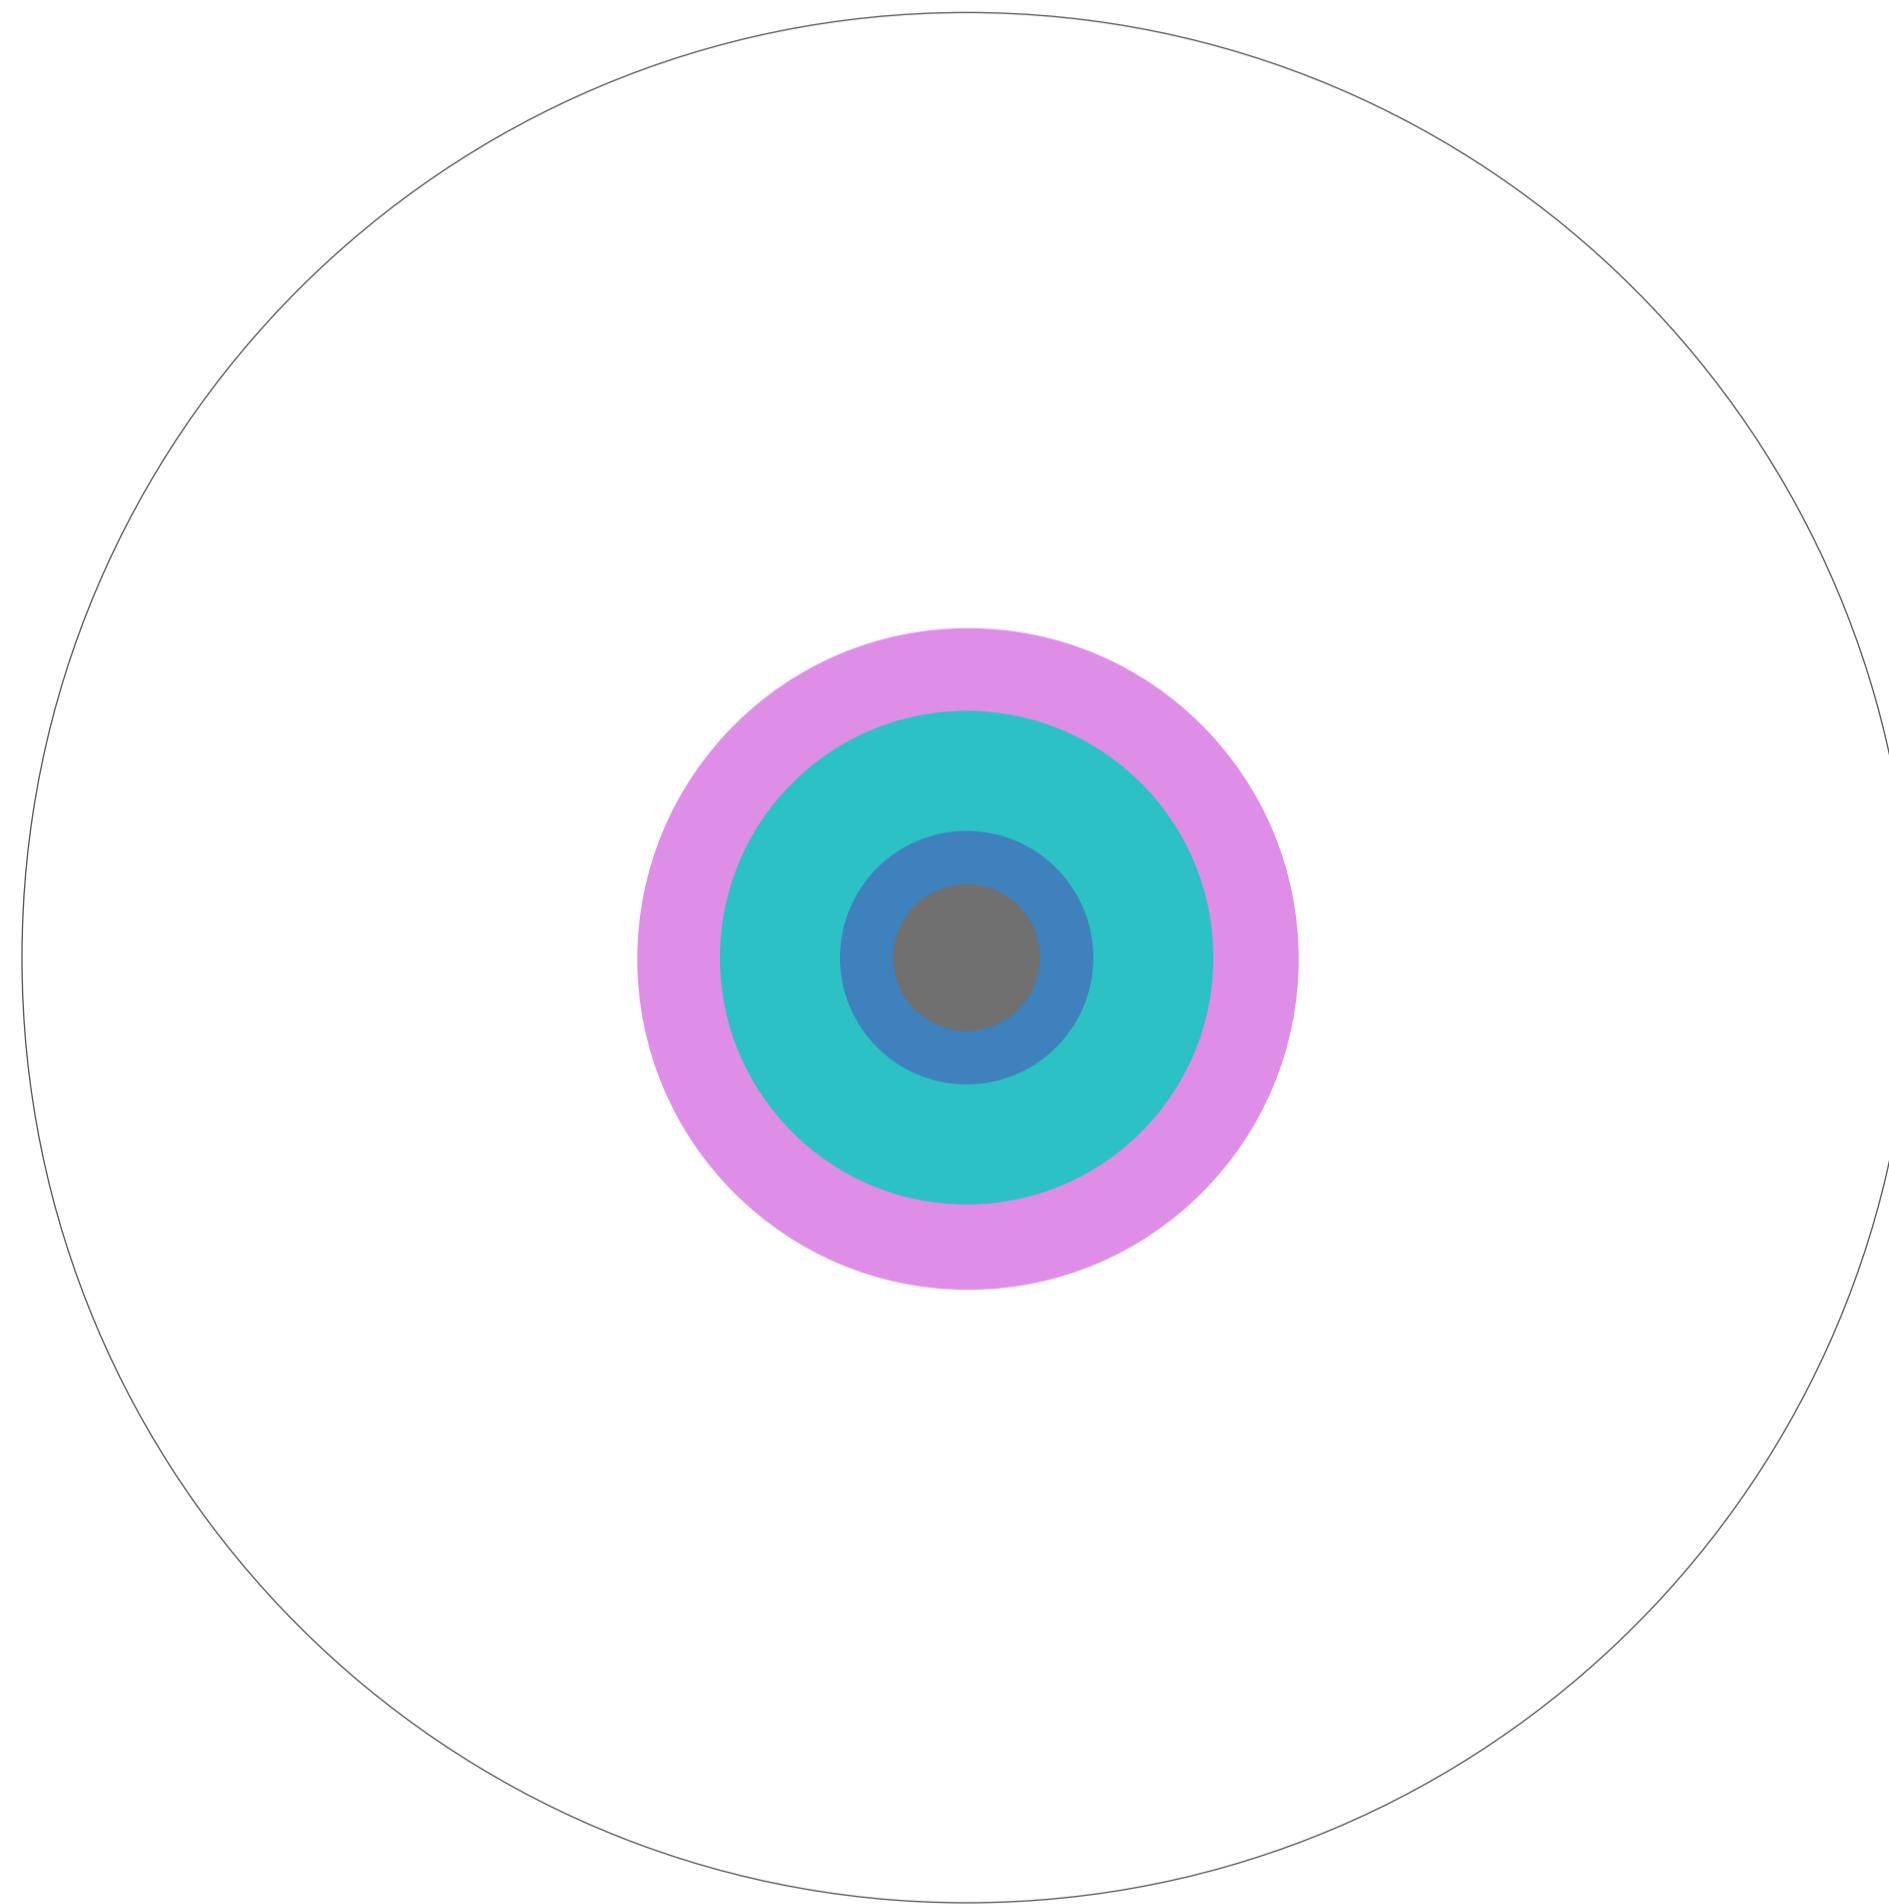

“...the reality of what it means to be taught in a culture of domination by those who dominate.”

*Circles will animate and bounce off of each other and brush/morph as they travel

Experiential View

Each 3-d form is made up of 30 discs. Each disc represents one year of media.

Each disc contains three concentric circles.

The black most inner circle is the stories in the media of your selected filter (it is automatically set to experiences of mixed people).

The pink second circle is the collective stories of other people of color represented in the media.

The white and final circle is the collective stories of white people represented in the media.

*note on scaling... though have not decided.

Changes Over Time

In this view, you can see the how representation in the media has changed over the last 30 years in the United States.

Hover over a disc to discover more about the breakdown of experiences in the media from that year.

Click on a disc to see more about that year in detail.

One Year in Detail

Click on disc for list view

Shadow and Bone

keywords

Ginny & Georgia

biracial, interracial family

Lupin

biracial-child

Squid Games

korean

The Sex Lives of College Girls

african-american, indian-american

Abbot Elementary

african-american

Click on card for more information on the tv show

TV in 2021 ▾

2021

Mixed: XX

POC: XX

White: XX

Ginny & Georgia (2021)

Keywords

biracial, interracial family

Description

Angsty, awkward 15-year-old Ginny Miller often feels more mature than her 30-year-old mother, the irresistible, dynamic Georgia Miller. After years on the run, Georgia desperately wants to put down roots in picturesque New England and give her family something they've never had: a normal life. But it's not all carpool and Kombucha; Georgia's past threatens her and her family's new lifestyle, and Georgia will do anything to protect her family.

Watch here!

